Rhodes Sees Win Over Magazine

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes says he intends to emerge the winner in the controversy over charges by Life magazine that he diverted campaign funds for personal use. Referring to last week's Life article, "The Governor and the Mobster," Rhodes told the Lima Rotary Club Friday night, "we will win that one." Pressed by reporters after his speech, the governor said his statement would stand "until we take our next step shortly." The governor refused to elaborate. The bulk of Rhodes' address was spent criticizing educators and industrialists for being too college-oriented. Rhodes said someone must break the cycle of poverty that now exists. He said that the 40,000 so-called school drop outs this year should be called "push outs" since education has turned its back on them by not providing vocational training to fit them to jobs.

4 Persons Die In Crash

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Four young persons were killed this morning when their car skidded out of control on a rain-slick highway and slammed into a tree. A fifth person was injured. Killed were Connie Lou York, 20, Pataskala; Brenda Kay Hosler, 19, Kirtersville; and Robert W. Baumhoyer, 18, and James A. Moro, 18, both of Baltimore. All lived in the Fairfield-Licking County area. Betty Foltz, 18, Baltimore, was injured, but not believed seriously. She was admitted to Licking Memorial Hospital here. She suffered shock and other injuries. The accident occurred on Ohio 37 south of Interstate 70 near Baltimore in Fairfield County. It was not determined who was driving. The entire right side of the car was ripped away. Officers still were investigating the crash.

McGovern Raps Demos Over Viet War

Going Too Easy Against Nixon, Senator Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern has delivered a pointed rebuke to Democratic leaders who failed to join in his demands that the Nixon administration move promptly to end the Vietnam war. At the same time, the South Dakota Democrat accused President Nixon of stepping up the war, and belittled talk of progress in peace talks, saying "I think the American people are once again being fed a policy of illusion." Earlier Friday, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., demanded a "major shift" in Nixon administration Vietnam policy and an end to the costly war. "The essential first step is for the Nixon administration to free itself from the Johnson administration's grievously mistaken concept of what the Vietnam war is all about," Javits told the Commonwealth Club. He said the new administration was following the "sterile and unsuccessful approach of the Johnson administration." The setting for McGovern's comments was a $50-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day fund raising dinner which brought together party leaders from both northern and southern California. Noting that last August he told Democratic platform writers that any American president who wanted to could end the Vietnam war on terms satisfactory to the American people in 60 days, McGovern said "that's still true in 1969."

"Frankly," he went on, "I do not understand the reluctance of some of our people to be so cautious about drawing attention to those truths and those realities with Mr. Nixon in the White House when we pointed it out time after time with the leader of our own party in the White House in 1968." He said the new administration was following the "sterile and unsuccessful approach of the Johnson administration." The setting for McGovern's comments was a $50-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day fund raising dinner which brought together party leaders from both northern and southern California. OSU Busy Preparing For Nixon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The announcement Friday that President Nixon will deliver the June 7 commencement address at Ohio State University has plunged the campus into a flurry of preparations. In making the announcement, the Florida White House at Key Biscayne said the President had received "quite a number" of invitations to appear at commencement exercises but had finally chosen OSU with an enrollment of 41,000. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he did not know whether Nixon would make a new statement on campus disorders in his address to the 4,458 members of the graduating class. "We're highly honored that the president has accepted our invitation," said OUS President Novice G. Fawcett. Planning for the visit is already under way, Fawcett said. Arrangements will be handled through the office of Robert G. Smith, vice president for university development. "We are especially enthusiastic about his visit," said Fawcett "since it will provide a fitting climax to Ohio State's first century of service to the nation as a land grant university."

U.S. Willing To Talk On 10 Points

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has told North Vietnam and National Liberation Front representatives it would like to talk about the 10-point proposal made in Paris by the Viet Cong for settlement of the Vietnam war. High U.S. officials making this known said the preliminary American response did not go beyond Secretary of State William P. Rogers' statement late Friday. "It contains some clearly unworkable proposals, but there are elements in it which may offer a possibility for exploration," Rogers said in the first Nixon administration response to the Viet Cong proposal. He emphasized that the position taken by the Communist side Thursday in Paris will require careful study and clarification. In the view of high authorities here, the proposal does contain new features which give a promise of some forward movement in the peace negotiations. Rogers, who leaves for Saigon on Monday, declared he would consult closely with Vietnamese leaders, including President Nguyen Van Thieu, to determine if the Viet Cong program represents a serious response to earlier U.S. and South Vietnam peace proposals. South Vietnam already has rejected parts of the NFL program which would set up a coalition "peace" government pending general elections throughout the country. The Rogers statement declared: "We believe that the right of self-determination for the people of South Vietnam must be respected unconditionally. This is the core of the issue in Vietnam."

Throw Back Suicidal Rush Near Da Nang

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines, fighter-bombers and artillery battered as many as 600 North Vietnamese troops in an area south of Da Nang military spokesmen reported today. After a daylong stream of fire from Marines sweeping through the area Friday and bombardment by planes the Marines reported counting the bodies of 129 North Vietnamese soldiers. Marine casualties were put at six killed and 12 wounded. "I don't understand their (the enemy's) tactics," said Col. William J. Zaro, of San Antonio, Tex., who directed the Marine assault that included about 1,500 riflemen and three tanks. "They have lost a lot of people in that area and they keep coming back. They must be in bad need of their rice there." U.S. officers said they thought the North Vietnamese commander, probably a high-ranking officer, had been killed during the air and artillery strikes because the enemy troops appeared to be running about in all directions, trying to escape the massive American firepower. The area where the fighting occurred is about 13 miles southwest of Da Nang. Enemy troops have operated there for several years despite countless allied operations. American fighter-bombers returning from missions elsewhere use the area as a dumping ground for unspent bombs and rockets. Less than two weeks ago, U.S. Marines killed 60 North Vietnamese soldiers in a day of fierce fighting in the territory, while suffering nine Marines killed and 80 wounded. Hard fighting also flared on several other fronts, including familiar trouble spots northwest and northeast of Saigon. U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division blocking the northward approach routes into Saigon killed 117 North Vietnamese troops in two fights Friday. U.S. casualties were two killed and nine wounded. Several American armored cars were reported damaged in one of the battles with as many as 200 North Vietnamese troops. Heavy fighting continued for the third day 45 miles northeast of Saigon. South Vietnamese government forces have lost at least 24 men killed, 122 wounded and 12 missing, authorities said. At least 70 Viet Cong troops have been killed and seven captured, the authorities said.

Impeachment Bid Said Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman says "impeachment can be the ultimate outcome" unless the White House takes action in a reasonable charge against Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy. Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, said he has no plans now to see impeachment, "but I'm not making any promises not to do it." The Texas Democrat contends the secretary maintained continuing ties to the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago. Kennedy was the bank's $200,000-a-year president until his appointment to the Cabinet. Kennedy has refused to reply to Patman's questions directly but Paul Eggers, general counsel for the Treasury, has reported Kennedy's affairs avoid any conflict. Patman, who claims he forced Andrew Mellon to quit as Treasury secretary in 1932, spelled out his charges Thursday in a one-hour Senate speech. There has been no reply from the executive branch since then, Patman said. "I think if there is no action by the executive branch it would be proper to suggest that the Banking Committee subpoena Mr. Kennedy, put him under oath and require him to testify," Patman said Friday. Patman said he has no particular deadline in mind for further action. "The President must have some time to consider this matter," he said. "He is the one who has to pass judgment first."

Thousands Gather To Note 100th Railroad Anniversary

PROMONTORY, Utah (AP) — It has been 100 years since there has been this much activity around barren, windswept Promontory Summit, Utah. On May 10, 1869, in the afternoon, hundreds of officials and spectators watched the golden spike ceremony when the last rail connected the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, and America had its first transcontinental railroad. Residents around Promontory, in northern Utah, re-enact the driving of the golden spike each year. But attendance is light. This year, authorities predict thousands of people will be on hand for the re-enactment this afternoon at the same spot the ceremony was held 100 years ago. But now the railroad on which the ceremony will be held goes nowhere. In fact a section of railroad had to be built specially for today's ceremony. Spectators and participants can't even get there by rail. The track was abandoned, and later pulled up, when the railroad was rerouted in 1904. Dozens of national figures will be on hand for the centennial party.

Wilson Remains Party Leader

LONDON (AP) — Tensions within Britain's divided Labor party eased today as Prime Minister Harold Wilson emerged from a daylong meeting of his Cabinet and the party's National Executive group unchanged by any rival for the leadership. A week of rumors over plots by backbench Labor members of Parliament seeking to replace Wilson, deep splits on party policy and disastrous losses by Labor in local elections across Britain Thursday all failed to produce any fireworks in the eight-hour meeting Friday, informants reported.

Bellic Prepares Sirhan Appeal

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Attorney Melvin Belli said Friday he plans to prepare a written appeal for a new trial of Sirhan Sirhan, convicted killer of Robert F. Kennedy. Belli said he doesn't think he'll have time to argue the trial, but said he will visit Sirhan's family Saturday and make arrangements to meet him. Belli made the remarks following a speech to the Arizona Osteopathic Medical Association.

Money Crisis To Continue Despite Upholding Of Mark

LONDON (AP) — West Germany's refusal to increase the official value of its currency was a political ploy that won't calm the growing European money crisis for long, some experts said today. "It simply will not be believed," a foreign exchange dealer said of the announcement Friday in Bonn that the German mark would not move from its present level of 25% cents. "It's obviously inevitable now." Nor did that dealer see significant relief when money markets open Monday from the speculative money trading that put heavy pressure this week on other Western currencies including the U.S. dollar. "There will certainly be some unwinding of totally speculative positions in the first day or two," he said, "but most people will simply hang on for the real decision when it comes." When and if the mark is revalued upward there will be a spate of profits for those who have been pouring foreign money into Germany to exchange for marks while the official rate lasts. Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats are under strong domestic pressure not to revalue the mark because farm, industrial and business leaders say revaluation would hurt their trade abroad by making German products more expensive. But Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats, Kiesinger's coalition partners, contend the mark is undervalued because exports exceed imports.

ROTC Review Is Interrupted

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 100 hippie-type young persons carrying white cardboard crosses interrupted an ROTC review at the University of Cincinnati Friday night by walking through the ranks. They strolled through the company ranks, dropped the crosses, and walked out. There was little noise. The interruption came just as president Dr. Walter Langsam began an inspection. The crosses had numerical figures to represent the number of Vietnam casualties. The review continued with their departure.

Last ROTC Cadets Are Congratulated

CINCINNATI (AP) — The president of Xavier University, the Rev. Paul L. O'Connor, Friday congratulated the last cadets to participate in the school's compulsory ROTC program. The ROTC program becomes voluntary this fall. "This course does not teach violence," Father O'Connor said. "It teaches the control of violence, the restraint of force. It is not killing that the ROTC student learns, but the heavy responsibility of freedom."

Cleanup Operations Start In Areas Hit By Tornadoes

KETTERING, Ohio (AP) — Property owners returned to their homes in mud, rain and hail Friday to salvage what they could in the aftermath of a tornado that cut a 100-yard-wide, four-mile path through this Dayton suburb. Some found their homes and apartments so shattered that public health authorities condemned them. Entry was forbidden even to those searching for personal belongings. Damage in excess of $3 million, two deaths and at least 50 persons injured was the estimated toll of Thursday evening's twister. Kettering was the hardest hit by the storm which broke at 5:57 p. m. smashing the 120-unit Colony apartment complex near the Montgomery - Greencree County line. City, county and state officials toured the damage area here Friday and also visited the Tappan Lake area of Harrison County where the tornado struck after touching down in Kettering and nearby Beaver Creek. American Red Cross disaster service chairman Ed Powers said a survey showed that 13 houses had been leveled by the 100 miles per hour winds, while 63 suffered major damage and more than 100 housing units received minor damage. There was no loss of life in Kettering, but 300 persons have been made homeless in the middle class suburb. Mrs. Harry Fogle, 42, died in the Tappan Lake tornado. The other storm-related death was that of Jefferson D. Miller, 20, Alexandria, who was a victim of high winds which hit the Pataskala area near Columbus. Mrs. Fogle was killed when the winds flattened her home. Miller died after a tree fell on top of his car. An official of the federal office of emergency preparations said affected sections of Kettering and Beaver Creek do not qualify for full disaster aid.

"It simply will not be believed," a foreign exchange dealer said of the announcement Friday in Bonn that the German mark would not move from its present level of 25½ cents. "It's obviously inevitable now."

Nor did that dealer see significant relief when money markets open Monday from the speculative money trading that put heavy pressure this week on other Western currencies including the U.S. dollar.

"There will certainly be some unwinding of totally speculative positions in the first day or two," he said, "but most people will simply hang on for the real decision when it comes."

When and if the mark is revalued upward there will be a spate of profits for those who have been pouring foreign money into Germany to exchange for marks while the official rate lasts.

Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger's Christian Democrats are under strong domestic pressure not to revalue the mark because farm, industrial and business leaders say revaluation would hurt their trade abroad by making German products more expensive. But Foreign Minister Willy Brandt's Social Democrats, Kiesinger's coalition partners, contend the mark is undervalued because exports exceed imports.

A room air conditioner has four basic functions. It cools, dehumidifies, clean and circulates air in an enclosed space, room or zone. The cooling capacity is expressed by BTU's, the dehumidifying in pints of moisture removed per hour, cleaning is by a filter, and circulation by a fan or blower. Desirable controls are a thermostat, adjustable air directors, at least two cooling settings and two fan speeds, and fan operation without cooling.

It is important to select a room air conditioner of proper cooling capacity. Too small a unit won't do the job that's expected of it. Too large a unit will be inefficient because there is a close relationship between cooling capacity and dehumidifying action. When the capacity is too large for the area being conditioned the unit will quickly pull the temperature down, then shut off the cooling function and with it the dehumidifying action. The room will be cool enough, but can also be excessively humid. This is why people may feel cool and clammy in an air conditioned room. Thus, an oversized unit will cool the air without remaining in operation long enough to dehumidify it.

Having a unit with at least two cooling settings and two fan speeds helps overcome this problem. On days when it isn't too hot, the low setting is used, therefore the conditioner cools long enough to do the job of dehumidifying and providing the greatest comfort. On the very hot days the high cooling setting is used to give the best results.

The needed room air conditioning capacity is determined by the size of the room; walls and windows exposed to the sun; wall, ceiling and floor construction and number of people who normally occupy the room. The dealer who has had considerable experience with air conditioning can determine, within reasonable limits of accuracy, the capacity needed.

In a move to help make life a little safer for children, the federal registration of phosphorous paste products as a poison bait has been cancelled. The bait was used in the control of certain insects and rodents in and around the home.

Cancellation of the registration means sales for home uses of phosphorous paste products are banned; such products may only be sold to government agencies and pest control operators for commercial or industrial use, and labels for such products must prominently display the warning, "Do not use or store in or around the home."

Records show that in spite of specific directions required to be on product labels, these products have in the past fallen into the hands of children.

Recluse Spider Gets Attention

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

On May 5, 1967, a housewife was bitten on the finger by a spider in Erie County. Symptoms including swelling, blisters, and extreme pain soon developed and the woman was hospitalized.

The bite was serious enough to keep the victim in the hospital for 3 weeks, five days of which were spent in intensive care. More recently, a young chap lost his life as a result of what was thought to be the "Brown Recluse Spider."

In the case of the Erie County woman, the venom produced a strong necrotic effect, destroying most of the tissue of the finger where bitten. Diagnosis of the species of spider responsible for this incident was made from the woman's description of the spider and from the symptoms produced by the bite.

On these grounds the spider involved was probably the brown recluse house spider. This particular spider was destroyed and no other spiders of these species have been collected in the area.

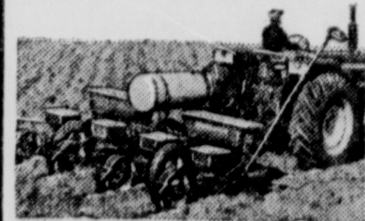

ALTHOUGH it is reasonably certain that this species of spider now occurs in Ohio, it cannot be officially stated until specimens are obtained and properly identified by an authority. The brown recluse spider has not been officially reported in Ohio, although it does occur frequently in our southern states.

According to Richard Miller, Ohio State University Extension Entomologist, the brown recluse spider is light fawn to brown in color with a distinctive violin-shaped dark marking on the top of the thorax or the fore part of the body. The body of this spider is up to 1/2 inch long and 1/4 inch wide.

This spider may occur in houses and other structures where it usually seeks a secluded, non-disturbed area such as in walls, basements, attics, ventilation ducts.

The venom of the brown recluse spider causes a blistering at the area of the bite. Later there is sloughing of dead tissue.

If you have spiders of questionable nature bring them to the County Extension Office and they will be forwarded to the Ohio State University for positive identification.

Cattle Sold On Carcass Grade

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Most cattle selling at Lughbill Auction, Archbold, on April 23 brought 49 to 49 1/2 cents a pound.

Buyers were looking at live steers but bidding on carcass beef. It was the second auction of its kind ever held, this one following a demonstration sale at the same location in February.

The new selling system was designed to transfer ownership of cattle from farmers to packers at a price which more nearly reflects the true value of the beef.

"This can be done only by viewing the dressed carcasses and judging the quality and cutability of each," says Clarence Bowen, Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist at The Ohio State University.

Animals were all sold using a base carcass grade of Choice 3. After the cattle were slaughtered and the carcasses graded by USDA graders, price differentials were used to adjust the selling price where the USDA grades varied from the base grade.

The differentials were set up just prior to the sale by Charles Lughbill, market manager. He attempted to establish these to reflect the beef prices retailers are willing to pay for various carcass grades. The differentials were posted for cattlemen and buyers to see during the sale.

Two carcass grading standards were used, one for quality (marbling) and one for quantity or cutability (percentage yields of retail cuts). Choice 3 (quality grade Choice and cutability or Yield Grade 3) was used as a base.

The $49 to $49.50 a hundred price offered by buyers for Choice 3 carcasses was about what that beef was bringing throughout the country on April 23. The few cents variation in bids reflected individual buyers preference for size of carcass, expected cutability, or type of cattle (based, of course, upon his knowledge of retailer demand from his "packing plant").

Differentials used on April 23 varied considerably from this base, or bidding price. Carcasses of Prime and Choice quality grades with a cutability or Yield Grade 1 sold at $3 a hundred more than those of the base, Yield Grade 3. Yield Grade 2 was worth $1.50 more. Yield Grade 4 was on the other hand $1.50 less, and Grade 5 was $3 less. A smaller, but similar price spread was used between cutability or yield grades for Good and Standard quality carcasses.

Price differentials for the quality grades, varying from Choice, were $3 off on Good, $6 off for Standard, and 50 cents up for Prime.

ONE of the main reasons for initiating this new technique in selling cattle was so the producer of high-quality, meat-type cattle would receive the financial incentive to increase his production. Selling under other marketing systems... "the producer often receives less than is merited for an animal with high cutability and more than is justified for animals with low cutability," reveals Paul R. Thomas, Extension Economist at The Ohio State University. Thomas and Bowen will be guest speakers at the May 26 Pickaway County Farmers Club speaking on this new marketing method.

Thomas and Bowen worked with Roger Connor, Executive Secretary of the Independent Livestock Marketing Association, Columbus, in planning the details of the new idea in marketing. The ILMA Board of Directors authorized the activity and assisted in the research and arrangements.

Supporting the sale and the innovative attempt to improve the marketing system have been packer-buyers from Eckert Packing Company, Defiance, Archbold and Troy; Superior Brand Meats, Massillon; Sandusky Dressed Beef, Sandusky; Henry Packing Company, Perrysburg; Pacer Packing Company, Toledo; Village Packing Company, Columbus; and David Davies Packing Company, Columbus.

Beef Activities Are Highlighted

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The latest results of Ohio's beef research program will be presented to visitors attending the 1969 Beef Cattle Day, May 21, at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, Wooster.

Pickaway County cattle feeders that would like to attend Beef Day activities should call their reservation into the Extension Office, 474-7534, Circleville. The group will leave from the Extension Office at 8 a.m. on this date.

Registration for the specialized field day begins promptly at 9:30 a.m. in the Auditorium on the Center's main campus. OARDC animal scientists R. R. Johnson, C. F. Parker, H. W. Newland, and H. W. Newland, and E. W. Klosterman will report on research studies in the following areas:

Eastern Tent Caterpillars Are Active

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The Eastern tent caterpillar is easily recognized now by the webs or tents as they are called that they are making in wild cherry, apple, peach, hawthorn, and other trees. The best time to control this pest is right now while they are small and before they begin migrating from the trees.

The more popular insecticides, such as DDT, malathion, methoxychlor, and sevin, will do a good job. Two tablespoons of a 50 per cent wettable powder per gallon of water should do the job. This spray solution should be applied generously to all the foliage in the area of the tent. Be sure and read the label on any insecticide you use.

If you think the tree and you have had a problem up till now, wait until these critters start to migrate. They will get in everyone's way and you can't do anything about it. The kids will love it and will collect them by the dozens. I guess it kind of tickles their skin when the larvae crawl on their arms.

Here's what's happening — after the caterpillars have completed their development they will crawl down the tree trunk to find some place to change to a lemon-yellow pupa. Once they leave the tree they do not feed and are very difficult to kill with an insecticide.

Hormones for finishing beef heifers; supplementing urea-treated silage; beef cattle breeding; feeding trials with bird-resistant grain sorghum; cattle size as related to total feed needs; and starter rations for feeder cattle. A special report of high energy, all-concentrate rations for finishing cattle will be presented by guest speaker Milton E. Wise, professor of animal science from North Carolina State University. George R. Johnson, chairman of animal science at OARDC and The Ohio State University will preside at the morning session.

FOLLOWING lunch, which will be available in the Center Auditorium, field day activities will shift to the new beef cattle research unit located several miles south of the main campus area.

Visitors will hear additional reports of the beef research program and tour the new half million dollar beef feeding facility.

Demonstrations of the automatic feeding equipment, liquid manure handling system, and cattle working facilities will be conducted in the new unit, which is composed of an automated group feeding wing and an individual feeding wing, both on slatted floors. The new research unit is now operating near capacity.

Following adjournment of the formal program and completion of the demonstrations, research scientists and extension specialist will be available for questions and answers and for individual consultation.

Beef Cattle Day is a specialized field day sponsored by the Research Center in cooperation with the Cooperative Extension Service, The Ohio State University, and the Ohio Cattlemen's Association.

Cattle Sold On Carcass Grade

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Most cattle selling at Luggbill Auction, Archbold, on April 23 brought 49 to 49 1/2 cents a pound.

Buyers were looking at live steers but bidding on carcass beef. It was the second auction of its kind ever held, this one following a demonstration sale at the same location in February.

The new selling system was designed to transfer ownership of cattle from farmers to packers at a price which more nearly reflects the true value of the beef.

"This can be done only by viewing the dressed carcasses and judging the quality and cutability of each," says Clarence Bowen, Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist at The Ohio State University.

Animals were all sold using a base carcass grade of Choice 3. After the cattle were slaughtered and the carcasses graded by USDA graders, price differentials were used to adjust the selling price where the USDA grades varied from the base grade.

The differentials were set up just prior to the sale by Charles Luggbill, market manager. He attempted to establish these to reflect the beef prices retailers are willing to pay for various carcass grades. The differentials were posted for cattlemen and buyers to see during the sale.

Two carcass grading standards were used, one for quality (marbling) and one for quantity or cutability (percentage yields of retail cuts). Choice 3 (quality grade Choice and cutability or Yield Grade 3) was used as a base.

The $49 to $49.50 a hundred price offered by buyers for Choice 3 carcasses was about what that beef was bringing throughout the country on April 23. The few cents variation in bids reflected individual buyers preference for size of carcass, expected cutability, or type of cattle (based, of course, upon his knowledge of retailer demand from his packing plant).

Differentials used on April 23 varied considerably from this base, or bidding price. Carcasses of Prime and Choice quality grades with a cutability or Yield Grade 1 sold at $3 a hundred more than those of the base, Yield Grade 3. Yield Grade 2 was worth $1.50 more. Yield Grade 4 was on the other hand $1.50 less, and Grade 5 was $3 less. A smaller, but similar price spread was used between cutability or yield grades for Good and Standard quality carcasses.

Price differentials for the quality grades, varying from Choice, were $3 off on Good, $6 off for Standard, and 50 cents up for Prime.

ONE of the main reasons for initiating this new technique in selling cattle was so the producer of high-quality, meat-type cattle would receive the financial incentive to increase his production. Selling under other marketing systems... "the producer often receives less than is merited for an animal with high cutability and more than is justified for animals with low cutability," reveals Paul R. Thomas, Extension Economist at The Ohio State University. Thomas and Bowen will be guest speakers at the May 26 Pickaway County Farmers Club speaking on this new marketing method.

Thomas and Bowen worked with Roger Connor, Executive Secretary of the Independent Livestock Marketing Association, Columbus, in planning the details of the new idea in marketing. The ILMA Board of Directors authorized the activity and assisted in the research and arrangements.

Supporting the sale and the innovative attempt to improve the marketing system have been packer-buyers from Eckert Packing Company, Defiance, Archbold and Troy; Superior Brand Meats, Massillon; Sandusky Dressed Beef, Sandusky; Henry Packing Company, Perrysburg; Pacer Packing Company, Toledo; Village Packing Company, Columbus; and David Davies Packing Company, Columbus.

OAKWOOD, Ohio (AP) — Police Chief Donald Porter suggests a uniform change for himself and his three captains—burundy sport jackets with a reproduction of a badge emblazoned on the pocket, black slacks, white shirts and black ties. City fathers in this Dayton suburb already have approved four new police cars—yellow with blue racing stripes. "We're trying to obtain the proper image," Porter said.

4-H Club News

Circleville Stitches By Tammy Lee Neff

A new girls 4-H clothing club was organized April 2 at the 4-H and Grange Building with 12 members. Advisers are Mrs. Edward Tomlinson and Mrs. Roger E. Bowers. The following officers were elected at a meeting held April 9: Kimberly Tomlinson, president; Carla Spackman, vice president; Kathy Tatman, secretary; Pam Sturgell and Susan Allison, health and safety chairmen. Tammy Lee Neff, news reporter; Rebecca Morehead, treasurer and Joanne Bowers, recreation leader.

Meetings will be held every other Wednesday after school until school is out. Project books were distributed to each member and the 4-H pledges repeated.

April 23 a meeting was held at the 4-H and Grange Building with all members present. Mrs. Bowers and Mrs. Tomlinson discussed the types of sewing baskets or containers and sewing items needed for sewing, also materials were shown that could be used for the projects, indicating color combinations. A second year member, Susan Allison, showed her project from last year.

Each member will bring a piece of material to the next meeting to practice hand sewing.

Refreshments of cookies and kool-aid were served by the committee.

Darby Cooks of Tomorrow By Paula Cook

The April 30 meeting of the Darby Cooks of Tomorrow was called to order by vice president Melanie Bliss. Health and safety committees were discussed. Talent show was discussed.

Demonstrations were given by Jane Huffer on how to make tomato juice cocktail, Teresa Robbins on how to make deviled eggs, Lisa Hughes on how to bake cookies, Judy Grabill on how to make tartar sauce and Norma Lee Rowland on how to make a salad.

Future Farmers of Monroe By Rita Ingman

The fifth meeting of the Future Farmers of Monroe was held Wednesday, April 16, at Monroe School. The meeting was called to order by president, Terry Hamilton. The 4-H pledge was led by Rita Ingman. Roll call was answered by their favorite car.

The club discussed the selling of fire extinguishers. The club voted to donate to the Cancer Fund. As one of their community projects, the club will clean the flag at the coliseum. Project books and the judging contest were also discussed.

Donny Harden, from Circleville provided the club with a movie about the West.

Untouchable Tractor By Paul Garrison

The eighth meeting of the club was called to order by Jack Easter. The flag pledge was led by Steve Kinser and the club pledge by David Huffer.

Steve Kinser and Ralph Baldwin gave a report on power transmission.

There will be a party at the next meeting and a movie will be shown. The tractor club is inviting the Westfall Livestock and Wayne Township Thread and Thimble 4-H clubs to attend this meeting. There will be a wiener roast.

Senior Deercreek Livestock By Nancy Keller

The Senior Deercreek Livestock club held a meeting at the Williamsport School. The meeting was called to order by the secretary, Patty Schein.

The meetings have been changed to the second and fourth Monday of every month. Project books were made available to the members.

The Charcoalers By Karen Hardman

The third meeting of the club was held at the home of Mrs. Bill Forsythe. This was our safety meeting. The roll call was answered by the project each member is taking. There were fifteen members present.

Sandy Mosley led the pledges and Debbie Penwell led in devotions. We each read our safety clipping and discussed safety.

Plans are being made to take a tour July 14. Refreshments were served.

4-H Band

Majorette try-outs for the Pickaway County 4-H Band will be held at the 4-H and Grange Building at the fairgrounds at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening, May 14. At this time, anyone wishing to be a member of the band this year, who has not had an instrumental try-out, should bring his instrument to play for placement.

Several new band members are in need of used jackets, particularly in the smaller sizes. Anyone wishing to dispose of a jacket no longer in use may contact the band director, Drexel Poling, the band president, Lee Stevens or Mrs. Sterling Poling.

Regular weekly band rehearsals will begin on Wednesday, Tuesday, June 4.

Madison Livewires By Teresa Stibelton

The fourth meeting of the Madison Livewire was held April 28. Twenty-two members were present. American Cancer Society packets were handed out.

Mr. Pete Everhart gave a talk on pigs. He also handed out papers on 4-H swine judging, terminology, breeding and marketing.

Refreshments were served by Betty Shirley, Joann and Pam Brown.

The next meeting will be held May 12.

Large Libraries Face Closing As Funds Are Cut Back

By BOB SYKES
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Scholars and students are among the 8,000 who each day visit the terraced Fifth Avenue research library, the granddaddy of this city's 192 free public libraries.

Now it and the others are in serious financial trouble.

The money-squeeze may force a drastic curtailment in operations, closure of 36 branches and termination of 500 jobs if budget-makers in the city, state and Washington get their way.

And elsewhere in the nation, libraries are facing similar problems as wage scales increase in the face of mounting reluctance by local and state governments to approve fatter budgets.

Further complicating the picture is a plan by the Nixon administration to trim $88 million in aid to libraries and library programs.

At St. Paul, Minn., the main library and nine branches close Saturdays and stay open now only two nights a week, to affect economies.

In Detroit, higher wages for librarians cut into operating costs and the main library now closes some mornings and Sunday nights during the summer months. It formerly was open every day and most evenings.

Utah Library Commission Director Russell Davis predicts that any cut in federal funds would mean that something would have to be curtailed. He says the proposed cutback will be the most pressing point discussed at a commission meeting this weekend. Davis says, "A cut in funds would put us backwards."

Los Angeles foresees no problem in maintaining its present 61-branch system. However, it has been unable to expand since 1964 when funds from a 1957 bond issue ran out. A bond issue two years ago was defeated by the voters.

The Connecticut state librarian, Walter Brahm, says that only two or three medium-sized libraries will be forced to close during six summer weeks to stay within the budget. But he is concerned about the cutback in federal grants. "If this sticks, the grants to Connecticut libraries will cease," he said.

New Haven Librarian Meredith Bloss says the loss of funds would force the city to "cut back appreciably" in hours and workers at a new inner-city library and reduce book purchases throughout the system.

"This is not as dramatic as closing down entirely but we are unable to keep up with the price of books and volume of new books. This is a kind of invisible closing," Bloss said.

The public library system in Kansas City, Mo., depends on school taxes for its revenue. Voters defeated a budget proposal last month. Should it be defeated again, a spokesman predicts some cutback in services at the main library and 124 branches beginning July 1.

The Newark, N.J., City Council voted to shut down the library system and museum April 1 because of lack of funds. The threat touched off a wave of protest within the community, forcing the council to reverse itself and raise the budget an additional $2 million.

Among the protesters was author Philip Roth, a Newark native, who denounced the move as just another "book burning."

In Detroit, citizen groups were formed to protest curtailment in service, and loud criticism has been raised by New Yorkers.

"They've really hit the people where it hurts," said a middle-aged housewife who lives in a lower East Side neighborhood which has one of the libraries that may be closed.

Miss Rissa Korsun, who often gives poetry readings in neighborhood libraries labels it "a form of cultural genocide."

She adds: "Our children don't have enough reading abilities as is. How can they open their minds and their hearts? You understand it's not as though we're asking for something that isn't ours. We fought for culture in the neighborhood, and we shouldn't have to give it up."

In Queens, angry residents staged a read-in last weekend to protest Saturday closings. The 50 demonstrators kept the library open throughout Friday night and Saturday. A spokesman said the tactic would continue until the city gave assurances the facility would remain open.

New Yorkers are hopeful however, that budget cuts totaling $4.3 million may be restored by City Council action. But the directors who operate the three municipal systems warn it would not be the end of the crisis.

The Fifth Avenue research library, supported by private funds, has been running a deficit of over $1 million for two years. Increased philanthropy has helped stave off a shutdown, but plans to curtail scheduled hours and jobs have not been changed.

Beginning May 12, that library will be closed evenings and on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

"It's an awful commentary on our time," says Gilbert W. Chapman, president of the New York system. "We've hung on as long as we could and now the chips are down."

Overtime Being Paid Upsets Trades

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — The long hours with high overtime pay on the construction of $75 million in new buildings at the Chevrolet-Fisher Body complex at nearby Lordstown are up setting the building trades labor market in this area, contractors say.

Workmen are putting in from 48 to 60 hours a week on the project, depending on their trades, and contractors fear the pace may pick up to the 70 and 80-hour schedules of last fall.

Construction work pays double time for overtime, which means that at $6.11 an hour carpenters gross $488 for a 60-hour week, compared to $244 for 40 hours. Plumbers draw $552 instead of $276 and structural iron workers gross $565.50 instead of $282.75.

At $5.39 an hour, laborers gross $431.20 for 60 hours a week, compared to $250.60 for 40 hours. During site clearing work last fall, laborers worked 72-hour weeks to gross $318.96 weekly.

General Motors Corp. officials point out that not all of the nearly 700 tradesmen at the Lordstown project are on 60-hour schedules. They also report that work stoppages and jurisdictional disputes between unions have put the project nearly a month behind schedule.

Contractors fear that this will cause GM overtime to go up instead of down when the project reaches a peak of 2,000 workers this summer.

Drop 30 Saints From Catholic Church Listing

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Nearly 30 saints were dropped in a drastic revision of the liturgical calendar of the Roman Catholic Church.

Among those dropped were St. Christopher, patron of travelers and the figure in millions of St. Christopher medals; St. Barbara, and St. Susanna, for whom the American Roman Catholic church in Rome is named.

The new calendar was issued under a decree by Pope Paul VI titled Paschalia Mysteriori (Of the Paschal Mystery). It said the deleted saints "were removed from the listing because it is doubtful that they ever existed."

A Vatican liturgical expert, the Rev. Pierre Journel of Paris, told a news conference the cancellations from the calendar of many popular saints "will pose an extremely delicate problem" for many Catholics.

Testing Of Red Rifles Slow Due To Lack Of Ammunition

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's plan to train recruits in the use of the main infantry rifle carried by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese has been stalled because of a lack of adequate ammunition.

As one Army training officer said, "procurement is a little slow—we have to capture our supplies from the enemy."

The Army announced last Oct. 8 that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, its chief of staff, had instructed training centers to include familiarization with the Russian-designed AK47 assault rifle for recruits.

"In addition to the added touch of realism, this will give the soldier experience in safe handling of enemy weapons which he may find or capture on the battlefield," the October announcement said.

A recent tour of Army bases, however, disclosed the program still isn't off the drawing board. The Army gave this reason why: "The lack of safe certified ammunition has contributed materially to the delay in carrying out the program."

Captured ammunition must be tested and certified by U.S. Army experts as safe for firing by American soldiers, which officers said is a time consuming process.

The Army now reports it has about 40,000 rounds of AK47 am-

N&W Wins OK To Drop Train Runs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Norfolk Western Railway won authorization from the Interstate Commerce Commission Friday to drop two passenger trains between Norfolk, Va., and Cincinnati.

The action was taken by the commission without the usual investigation.

The ICC said this was done because the railroad showed in its application that the two trains attracted only "modest patronage" while incurring substantial deficits in recent years.

Moreover, the commission said, there are ample alternative forms of transportation along the 680-mile route.

The ICC also noted that NW has promised to vastly upgrade service in its remaining two passenger trains between the two cities.

The railway will probably discontinue the trains, 1525 and 1625, on May 23, the date requested in N W's application.

Milk Support Prices Less In 1968-69

Federal price support purchases of dairy products in the 1968-69 marketing year were less than those for the previous year, Chairman George Stump of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee announced today.

Commodity Credit Corporation dairy purchases for 1968-69 were equivalent to 4.6 billion pounds of milk, compared to 7 billion in the 1968-69 marketing year.

This amounted to 4.2 percent of total marketings for 1968-69, compared to 6.2 percent for 1967-68. The reduction was attributed mainly to 1.4 percent lower milk production and smaller dairy imports. Commercial consumption of milk and dairy products remained about the same, the chairman said.

Purchase of dairy products (butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk) by the CCC is designed to remove excess supplies from the market in order to improve the income of dairy producers, Chairman Stump pointed out. The aim of the program is for the United States average price for manufacturing milk and cream to at least equal the announced support prices.

The reduction of CCC purchases was reflected in all three classes of dairy products — butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk. The Chairman said that nearly all of the CCC cheese and most of the butter were donated to the needy, school lunchroom programs, and for similar uses in this country.

Delay Asked In Mowing Diverted Land

Farmers in the 1969 feed grain and wheat programs are asked to wait until after July 1 before mowing cover on acreage they are diverting.

The request comes from the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, with strong endorsement by the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

George Stump, committee chairman, said the delay will protect wildlife during the critical May-June period of nesting and propagation.

Mowing meadow fields before July 1 takes a heavy toll of nesting birds, particularly pheasants, and other wildlife. Pheasant hens become broody and are difficult to flush from the nest a few days before their eggs hatch.

Stump said other phases of the grain programs may serve to protect and increase our wildlife population.

Farmers interested in improving conditions that protect and promote wildlife may wish to plant special food or habitat plots. These may be made with barley, corn, grain sorghum, oats, rye, soybeans and wheat. The County ASCS Office should be consulted for details on size and location of these plots.

On farms where Canada thistles are present, Stump said spot mowing or spraying is recommended during May and June. Other noxious weeds may be mowed or sprayed as often as necessary after July 1.

Testing Of Red Rifles Slow Due To Lack Of Ammunition

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's plan to train recruits in the use of the main infantry rifle carried by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese has been stalled because of a lack of adequate ammunition.

As one Army training officer said, "procurement is a little slow—we have to capture our supplies from the enemy."

The Army announced last Oct. 8 that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, its chief of staff, had instructed training centers to include familiarization with the Russian-designed AK47 assault rifle for recruits.

"In addition to the added touch of realism, this will give the soldier experience in safe handling of enemy weapons which he may find or capture on the battlefield," the October announcement said.

A recent tour of Army bases, however, disclosed the program still isn't off the drawing board. The Army gave this reason why: "The lack of safe certified ammunition has contributed materially to the delay in carrying out the program."

Captured ammunition must be tested and certified by U.S. Army experts as safe for firing by American soldiers, which officers said is a time consuming process.

The Army now reports it has about 40,000 rounds of AK47 ammunition on hand, but needs about 94,000 rounds every three months for the initial phase of training. It is not considered economical to manufacture the comparatively small amount of ammunition needed, the Army said.

Seven months after the program's original launch date, the Army says now it anticipates delivery of an additional 100,000 rounds of AK47 ammo by the end of May. If schedules are met and the bullets pass safety inspection, the Army added, the program will be started by summer.

Also contributing to the delay in carrying out the Westmoreland program is trouble with faulty AK47s. According to the Army, one-third of the assault weapons inspected failed to meet U.S. safety standards.

The action was taken by the commission without the usual investigation.

The ICC said this was done because the railroad showed in its application that the two trains attracted only "modest patronage" while incurring substantial deficits in recent years.

Moreover, the commission said, there are ample alternative forms of transportation along the 680-mile route.

The ICC also noted that NW has promised to vastly upgrade service in its remaining two passenger trains between the two cities.

The railway will probably discontinue the trains, 1525 and 1625, on May 23, the date requested in N W's application.

Slowdown In Economy Under Way?

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Growing belief that the long awaited business slowdown has begun was indicated by top industrialists at the spring meeting of the Business Council here Friday.

The council scheduled a survey of the business outlook for the opening session of its week-end conference with high government officials and economists.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, Secretary of Housing George Romney, White House counselor Arthur F. Burns and Postmaster Gen. Winton M. Blount were on the program. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, was among the invited guests.

Without waiting for the experts' appraisal, several council members said privately that the latest crop of economic indicators suggests the pace of business expansion finally is being retarded by the Nixon anti-inflation kit—the 10 per cent surtax, tight money and restraint on federal spending.

However, some added the observation that President Nixon, in seeking repeal of the seven per cent tax credit for business investment in new machinery and equipment, might be flirting with "overkill"—a possible recession with spreading unemployment.

Fast Rail Mail

A new fast-freight mail train put into service by the Post Office Department will be viewed as a healthy trend by those who fear the demise of railroads. The Santa Fe Railway's "Super C" train will haul mail between Chicago and Los Angeles at a speed equaling crack passenger trains. It has been averaging about 37 hours for the run.

The train makes only two stops, at Kansas City and Amarillo. This is good time, and if the system proves feasible, it may help reverse the trend toward abandonment of the railroads as mail carriers.

Mail business is essential to railroads which are smarting from competition from the airplane and especially the automobile and truck. But there is a limit to the proliferation of highways.

Congestion is already a problem at international airports and will become more perplexing at small facilities. High-speed rail transport would seem a logical answer to some of these problems.

Whatever can be done to protect rail facilities that still exist should be money saved for the future.

Outer Space Spy

A New Jersey congressman has taken note of celestial spying on Moe the Elk in Yellowstone National Park, perhaps the first creature subjected to continuing outer space surveillance.

Rep. Gallagher, chairman of a subcommittee on the invasion of privacy, confirms previous reports that the movements of the elk are being spied on by the Nimbus satellite, a kind of eye in the sky.

The congressman sees in the elk surveillance a potential threat to the privacy of the citizenry. "The very notion that a satellite flying miles from the earth can record even the most insignificant movements of an elk in Yellowstone Park demonstrates how awesome this technology has become," Mr. Gallagher said.

Although he may be overly alarmed at the threat to individual privacy, the Nimbus and other electronic marvels provide reason for feeling that in eavesdropping potential man is much closer to 1984 than a span of 15 years would suggest.

Order Or New Laws

This has been a trying year for higher education. Already overburdened with the problems of mass migration to the campuses, institutions of higher learning in many cities continue to face conditions of hostility bordering on guerrilla warfare.

The shocking spectacle of armed insurrectionists capturing campus buildings, assaulting deans, bringing entire colleges to a halt for days and otherwise intimidating the very foundation of academic inquiry has been met in too many instances by acquiescence on the part of faculty and administration.

Perhaps during the summer vacation the schools will prepare themselves with the fortitude and rules of conduct they seem to lack in many instances.

The legislatures in more than a dozen states stand ready to do it for them if they will not.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Work, not alcohol or drugs, has always been the most popular narcotic in America. We are a work-addicted people, as witness the number of men who fear compulsory retirement at 65 because they feel they'll be lost without the stimulation provided by going to a daily job.

It seems like years since we've seen an old-fashioned hairpin. Don't women ever wear them anymore?

Strawberries and modern children have one thing in common: the bigger they grow the more tasteless some of them become.

The height of boredom comes when a fellow suddenly discovers he has been talking to himself—but not bothering to listen.

The more scientific we become the more stubbornly we stick to our time-worn superstitions. If you put a large ladder across a sidewalk, eight out of 10 passers-by will walk around rather than under it. The two who do walk under it aren't any less superstitious than the others—they're just probably showoffs.

People who crave the lime-light go through endless maneuvers to become the center of attention at a cocktail party, but the simplest of all ways to do it is to get an attack of hiccups.

The suspicion arises that many folks who attend church today do so because it is the one public place left where they run a minimal danger of being mugged.

There are two good reasons why housewives live longer than their husbands: (1) they can flop down on a couch any time during the day when they are tired, and (2) they avoid the physical wear and tear of the two-and-three-Martini lunch, which ages executives quicker than anything.

The biggest problem facing educators today is how to find a way to convince the students that there is a real difference between going to college and going to kindergarten.

The loneliest people I know are those wealthy enough to attend public banquets frequently, but so poverty-stricken in real companionship that they can't think of anything better to do with their time. I always think they'd be happier if they learned to hook rugs and stayed at home with the cat.

The meek may indeed sometime inherit the earth, but the odds are against them holding it undisturbed for very long.

When a guy becomes so confirmed a bachelor that he carries safety pins in his pocket, a girl is wasting her time trying to lure him into matrimony.

Maturity is that stage in life when you reach when you decide that it is more fun to watch the world go to the dogs than try to reform it yourself single-handed.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of the most distressing aspects of severe allergy occurs when it is found that a person is sensitive only to house dust. Unfortunately, there is no area in large cities or even in the farm country without house dust and air pollution.

Recently, the British Tuberculosis Association did a highly controlled study on the value of desensitizing a group of patients with commercially prepared house dust in an effort to learn its effect on asthma. Almost a hundred asthma patients were chosen, all of them having a primary house dust problem.

Half of these patients were given gradually increasing injections of the commercial house dust preparation, while the other half were not given the injections.

The conclusion arrived at was "No significant difference could be discerned in the results between those treated with house dust and the control group."

This finding may account for the fact that so much disappointment occurs in people who anticipate a permanent cure or control of asthma by long periods of sensitization with house dust alone. Specialists in allergy valiantly try to track down other offending substances that may play a larger role in the production of asthma.

Asthma is a complex disease that can be treated effectively when combined groups of physicians contribute their knowledge in many fields to reduce the severity and the frequency of asthmatic attacks.

The neurological disease that struck one of America's favorite human beings, Lou Gehrig, is known as amyotrophic lateral sclerosis. This disease, A.L.S., is one of a large group of disorders that affects the muscles and the nerves that activate them. The disease occurs more frequently in men and usually starts past the age of forty. Little is known of the disease and perhaps less is known about how to interrupt its progression.

Now a new drug which was widely used for another reason, amitrityline hydrochloride, seems to be able to stop the advance of this severely progressive neurological disease. It is arousing a great deal of enthusiasm in those research workers who are using it on selected patients.

The drug was originally tried on patients who were severely depressed and who were under observation as severe neurotics and psychotics.

At Yale University and at the University of Florida, Dr. Peter S. Mueller and Dr. Donald T. Quick have combined their researches and are using the new drug for A.L.S. with more than expected success. The general feeling of their report is that the work deserves to be further investigated because the disease was so definitely kept from advancing at its usually rate in some cases.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The shocks are becoming too common, the dangers too great, the efforts to avert chaos too difficult for the present world currency exchange system to remain unchanged.

Once again a crisis exists, the fifth major one in the past 18 months involving the currencies of big international trading nations. Such frequency indicates that crises are built into the system.

The present one involves the currency of West Germany, which appears to be undervalued, and the French franc, which may be overvalued. It could also involve the British pound, which has remained shaky despite devaluation.

The criticism of the present system generally has been that it is too rigid, that it forces nations to insist that their currency has been maintained at its stated value when nobody really believes this to be so.

This system of fixed change rates obliges a government to step in and support the price of its currency, to buy its own money in order to price within one per cent of the stated level.

Then, when the nation no longer can do so, a crisis develops and devaluation is the only way out. A currency that is worth $2.80 one day might be worth only $2.40 the next. This can be a serious shock to trade.

This system, arranged in 1944 at the famous Bretton Woods, N.H., monetary conference, was an attempt to avert the destructive nationalistic policies of the 1930s, a decade of depression.

During those years one country after another devalued its currency in order to obtain a competitive advantage over its neighbor. But the near fatal result was a lessening of world trade.

By keeping exchange rates fixed, the conference members hoped, one nation would feel confident when it arranged long-term investments in another nation's economy. And it has worked out that way.

Despite defects, the system of fixed exchange rates has worked wonders, and world trade has prospered. But, in the opinion of many bankers and economists, it may not be suited to present times.

There is a reason for this, and it is called full employment. Once nations were willing to rout inflation and pay off international debts by getting their economies in order. This often meant deflation, and deflation meant fewer jobs. No longer is this corrective method acceptable.

Nations today seek full employment and full employment often results in inflation, or a dilution in the stated value of a currency. But remember: Realities aside, that currency value is fixed.

The suggestions for bringing the exchange systems up to date range widely. Some economists would like to see no fixed rates; they would permit the value of currencies to float on a sea of supply and demand.

The chief criticism of this suggestion is that nations might not make long-term commitments to each other without some assurance of the future value of a currency. A fixed rates gives more assurance than a floating rate.

Another suggestion is to keep the fixed rate but permit more than one per cent fluctuation. Thus, when a nation has difficulties in supporting its currency it will have more room to maneuver and buy time.

The problem here is that rather than correcting the weakness in its economy that causes its currency to seem overvalued, a nation might simply adjust to the wider permissible fluctuation.

In the final analysis, the only real solution is for nations to live economically and pay their bills to each other within reasonable times.

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER

State Representative

On Tuesday of this week the House passed SB 199. This major proposal will defer until January 1, 1972, the application of the Supreme Court decision on equalization of property tax assessments.

The measure passed as an emergency and it will allow the board of tax appeals a reasonable time to prepare and adjust toward a forty per cent assessment rate.

A constitutional question may come up on the bill, but there seems to be no other course of action to prevent chaos and crisis in the state.

The House defeated by a vote of 47-41 a measure that would have allowed the use of only one auto license plate instead of two. The bill was opposed by law enforcement agencies. Most members felt the savings would not outweigh the safety factor.

The administration's $4 billion plus budget bill cleared the house 70-27 late Wednesday after three hours of debate and the defeat along party lines of all Democratic amendments.

The budget is a "continuation" proposal, providing for no new programs and using only minimum revenue estimates to fund the present programs. It does, however, provide for small salary increases for most state employees, and adds 150 highway patrolmen to the states' 880 man force.

Significant amendments that were defeated were the ones that would have headed off swimming fees at state parks, extra monies for police and firemen's pensions and 25 million for public employees pay raises.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The shocks are becoming too common, the dangers too great, the efforts to avert chaos too difficult for the present world currency exchange system to remain unchanged.

Once again a crisis exists, the fifth major one in the past 18 months involving the currencies of big international trading nations. Such frequency indicates that crises are built into the system.

The present one involves the currency of West Germany, which appears to be undervalued, and the French franc, which may be overvalued. It could also involve the British pound, which has remained shaky despite devaluation.

The criticism of the present system generally has been that it is too rigid, that it forces nations to insist that their currency has been maintained at its stated value when nobody really believes this to be so.

This system of fixed change rates obliges a government to step in and support the price of its currency, to buy its own money in order to price within one per cent of the stated level.

Then, when the nation no longer can do so, a crisis develops and devaluation is the only way out. A currency that is worth $2.80 one day might be worth only $2.40 the next. This can be a serious shock to trade.

This system, arranged in 1944 at the famous Bretton Woods, N.H., monetary conference, was an attempt to avert the destructive nationalistic policies of the 1930s, a decade of depression.

During those years one country after another devalued its currency in order to obtain a competitive advantage over its neighbor. But the near fatal result was a lessening of world trade.

By keeping exchange rates fixed, the conference members hoped, one nation would feel confident when it arranged long-term investments in another nation's economy. And it has worked out that way.

Despite defects, the system of fixed exchange rates has worked wonders, and world trade has prospered. But, in the opinion of many bankers and economists, it may not be suited to present times.

There is a reason for this, and it is called full employment. Once nations were willing to rout inflation and pay off international debts by getting their economies in order. This often meant deflation, and deflation meant fewer jobs. No longer is this corrective method acceptable.

Nations today seek full employment and full employment often results in inflation, or a dilution in the stated value of a currency. But remember: Realities aside, that currency value is fixed.

The suggestions for bringing the exchange systems up to date range widely. Some economists would like to see no fixed rates; they would permit the value of currencies to float on a sea of supply and demand.

The chief criticism of this suggestion is that nations might not make long-term commitments to each other without some assurance of the future value of a currency. A fixed rate gives more assurance than a floating rate.

Another suggestion is to keep the fixed rate but permit more than one per cent fluctuation. Thus, when a nation has difficulties in supporting its currency it will have more room to maneuver and buy time.

The problem here is that rather than correcting the weakness in its economy that causes its currency to seem overvalued, a nation might simply adjust to the wider permissible fluctuation.

In the final analysis, the only real solution is for nations to live economically and pay their bills to each other within reasonable times.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I'm not writing this to cause an uproar or an exchange of letters back and forth. But with this thought, "The people can wait but the city can not."

For 12 years people on Lynwood Ave. have waited for a decent street, it has always had more holes in it than most old county roads.

Any time mention was made of this the answer was, "there is no money or when the storm sewer is put in."

Last summer the storm sewer was put in. We still waited for the street to be fixed. Not just patch jobs of holes being filled with tar and gravel.

On May 7 of this month the Van Camp Company started to surface the street. On May 8 we received the assessment for the storm sewer. As of this date the street is not completely finished.

The city has waited one year to collect the assessment. We have waited twelve years for the street. That is quite a lot of difference isn't it?

We are given thirty days to pay cash for the assessment or, have it added to our taxes plus interest, plus a collection fee by the city auditor. If they were in such a rush to collect the money, someone slipped in their thinking. They could of sent us the assessment by a special messenger and we would of received it in the morning. As the mail on Lynwood is not delivered until the afternoon.

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER
State Representative

On Tuesday of this week the House passed SB 199. This major proposal will defer until January 1, 1972, the application of the Supreme Court decision on equalization of property tax assessments.

The measure passed as an emergency and it will allow the board of tax appeals a reasonable time to prepare and adjust toward a forty per cent assessment rate.

A constitutional question may come up on the bill, but there seems to be no other course of action to prevent chaos and crisis in the state.

The House defeated by a vote of 47-41 a measure that would have allowed the use of only one auto license plate instead of two. The bill was opposed by law enforcement agencies. Most members felt the savings would not outweigh the safety factor.

The administration's $4 billion plus budget bill cleared the house 70-27 late Wednesday after three hours of debate and the defeat along party lines of all Democratic amendments.

The budget is a "continuation" proposal, providing for no new programs and using only minimum revenue estimates to fund the present programs. It does, however, provide for small salary increases for most state employees, and adds 150 highway patrolmen to the states 880 man force.

Significant amendments that were defeated were the ones that would have headed off swimming fees at state parks, extra monies for police and firemen's pensions and 25 million for public employees pay raises.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Work, not alcohol or drugs, has always been the most popular narcotic in America. We are a work-addicted people, as witness the number of men who fear compulsory retirement at 65 because they feel they'll be lost without the stimulation provided by going to a daily job. It seems like years since we've seen an old-fashioned hairpin. Don't women ever wear them anymore?

Strawberries and modern children have one thing in common: the bigger they grow the more tasteless some of them become.

The height of boredom comes when a fellow suddenly discovers he has been talking to himself—but not bothering to listen.

The more scientific we become the more stubbornly we stick to our timeworn superstitions. If you put a large ladder across a sidewalk, eight out of 10 passers-by will walk around rather than under it. The two who do walk under it aren't any less superstitious than the others—they're just probably showoffs.

People who crave the lime-light go through endless maneuvers to become the center of attention at a cocktail party, but the simplest of all ways to do it is to get an attack of hiccups.

The suspicion arises that many folks who attend church today do so because it is the one public place left where they run a minimal danger of being mugged.

There are two good reasons why housewives live longer than their husbands: (1) they can flop down on a couch any time during the day when they are tired, and (2) they avoid the physical wear and tear of the two-and three-Martini lunch, which ages executives quicker than anything.

The biggest problem facing educators today is how to find a way to convince the students that there is a real difference between going to college and going to kindergarten.

The loneliest people I know are those wealthy enough to attend public banquets frequently, but so poverty-stricken in real companionship that they can't think of anything better to do with their time. I always think they'd be happier if they learned to hook rugs and stayed at home with the cat.

The meek may indeed sometimes inherit the earth, but the odds are against them holding it undisturbed for very long.

When a guy becomes so confirmed a bachelor that he carries safety pins in his pocket, a girl is wasting her time trying to lure him into matrimony.

Maturity is that stage in life you reach when you decide that it is more fun to watch the world go to the dogs than try to reform it yourself single-handed.

Dear Abby: Upright Dad May Lose His Daughter

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you before, but then I have never had a 16-year-old daughter before either.

Gloria has had a couple of movie dates, but the boy's parents took them and brought them home.

Last Sunday another boy, who has been to our home several times, asked Gloria's Daddy if he could take Gloria to the Prom. To everyone's surprise, Dad said yes, and Gloria has been thrilled ever since.

Now the problem: Last night this boy came by and as he was leaving Dad saw him Kiss Gloria goodnight. Now Dad says Gloria can't go to the prom with this boy unless he (Dad) takes them and brings them home. Gloria says she would rather stay home.

I say, Dad's taking them is better than not going at all. Don't you think Gloria should be allowed to go with this boy

Grange

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE

National Music Week was given recognition at the May 6 meeting of Salt Creek Valley Grange. Hoyt Timmons substituted as presiding officer.

The charter was draped in memory of Judson Beougher, a member who served the Grange in many capacities.

Mrs. Fred DeLong, Home Economics Chairman, led a discussion concerning the manner of cooperation for beautification of the State Grange Home Office. Plans are to contribute proceeds from a June 14 bake sale. Mrs. DeLong stated that several of the "Grange Cook Books" were available for sale and reminded fellow members of the Blood Bank responsibilities on June 28th.

As Deputy Master, Paul Dunkle reviewed current findings about the county and announced the district talent contest at Pickerington Grange on June 25 and that each Grange was to have an Exhibit Booth at County Fair.

Mrs. Roy Fraumfelter, secretary, read communications from American Red Cross, expressing appreciation for time and effort given the past year, and the 4-H Department of Agriculture Extension for continued support to the youth.

A decision was made to continue support to the 4-H program and to contribute to the Salt Creek School Fund for purchase of dishes.

A greeting was sent Corilla Pontius who had just returned home from the hospital.

Using the theme "Music, Music, Music," Paul Dunkle, lecturer, presented a program. For roll call each responded with favorite music from the Grange Song Book.

To define music, Leora Sayre read "I Am Music."

Many musical interests and talents were recognized by the songs sung by a vocal ensemble from the Circleville City Boy's Choir: Tom Scherer, Mark Rustin, Mike Lawter, Billy Massey, Allen Dray, and Philip Roll.

"Moon River" was the piano solo by Joyce DeLong. "Orpheus with His Lute" and "Song of Lilac" were presented by Grace Anderson and Mrs. Radolph Wolfe. A "Happy Birthday" song was sung to Mrs. Anderson. Winners in the contest of "Musical Book" were Mark Rustin and Mrs. Wolfe.

During the concluding Social Fellowship, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Gail Heffner and Mrs. Wayne Luckhart.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Unseasonably cool weather is slated to continue through Monday.

The next system to affect Ohio is a low pressure system which was in southeastern Iowa early this morning. This low will move southeastward and then eastward on a course just south of the Ohio River this afternoon and evening and then northeastward later tonight and Sunday into eastern Pennsylvania.

Scattered showers and some thundershowers activity will develop over the state as this low approaches and will continue through tonight and most of Sunday in the northwesterly flow of cold unstable air behind the low.

Monday's outlook shows the very cool trend continuing with the high ranging from the 50s to the lower 60s. Lows Monday night will be in the 30s.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Variable cloudiness and continued very cool with scattered showers and evening thundershowers through Sunday. Lows tonight from the upper 30s northwest to the 40s elsewhere over the state.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST

OHIO — Variable cloudiness and continued very cool with scattered showers through Sunday. High temperatures Sunday in the 50s. Lows tonight from the upper 30s to the lower 40s. Outlook for Monday partly cloudy and continued cool.

CENTRAL EAST CENTRAL SOUTH WEST SOUTHEAST

OHIO — Variable cloudiness and continued very cool with scattered showers through Sunday. High Sunday from the mid 50s to the lower 60s. Lows tonight in the 40s. Outlook for Monday partly cloudy and continued cool.

Negroes Protest In Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Some 135 Negroes, joined by a few whites, marched in the rain to City Hall Friday to protest what they called segregated housing.

The grievance was handed to chairman Dudley Inwood of the City Commission.

Negro businessmen closed for the day and 20 garbage collectors stayed off the job.

Paint Up, Clean Up, Fix Up Week Ends In Circleville

Litter boxes are being distributed in the downtown area today to all citizens who want them, as part of today's final to Paint Up, Clean Up, Fix Up Week.

The "Blabbermouth Sewers" 4-H Club is passing out the boxes, which were donated by Owens-Illinois. Today is also suggested as backyard clean up day for the whole family to work together around the house.

The community improvement week was sponsored by the Community Appearance Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Chairman, Bill Hall. According to Hall, "The week has been a big success because of the cooperation of clubs, business, industry, and other members of the community."

Among those cited by the Chamber Committee were Jack Goode of Goode's Nursery for furnishing the 25 trees which were planted in Circleville's two southend playgrounds; Owens-Illinois for contributing specially prepared litter boxes; and Doyle Spangler of Cellar Lumber Company for donating the paint which will be used to paint the shed behind Berger Hospital.

swing here Sunday. He'll spend 48 hours in the Mexican capital, then will fly Tuesday to Central America.

He and a 20-man team will talk to government, business and political leaders, and possibly student groups, in the quest for a new policy the Nixon administration can apply in its future relations with Latin America.

There's sharp interest here, much of it centering on Mexico's endemic trade deficits with the United States.

The United States' fifth best customer in the world, Mexico purchased $1.23 billion of American goods last year while selling only $707 million.

Actually, over-all business between the two countries in 1968 nearly came out even. Mexico made $1.14 billion on tourism and border business while spending $627 million on the same categories. The next $500 million in profit nearly balanced out the $528-million trade deficit. Tourism and border trade figures seldom are cited in Mexican statistics relating to U.S. trade.

Delay Return Of U.S. Troops From Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — About 2,000 soldiers scheduled to return to the United States in May, some for discharge, have had their tours in Korea extended for 31 days, the U.S. Army announced Friday.

The announcement said the extension is aimed at maintaining the 8th Army "at a constant high level." It did not say how long the policy would be in effect.

A similar extension was made in January 1968 when the North Koreans seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo. There was speculation the new extension was related to the downing of the Navy spy plane off the Korean coast April 15.

The United States maintains 55,000 men in Korea, most of them Army and Air Force personnel, to help the 550,000-man South Korean forces defend their country against North Korea. The normal duty tour for U.S. soldiers is 13 months.

DEAR ABBY: I think you missed the point in the letter from "Worried" whose husband was overly friendly to his sister-in-law, and said it was done by the Eskimos.

The key was in the last sentence: "I answer his needs every time he asks me."

Abby, if wives could only realize that a husband needs a little enthusiastic cooperation now and then. Why should he have to ASK? A husband wants to be chased around the bedroom and know that he is answering his wife's needs, too.

Any woman who waits for her husband to "ask" her has no will. Certainly let him know they "need" him and will appreciate his answering those needs.

So, Dear Abby, please tell wives to use a little initiative occasionally, and don't wait to be "asked"—or they may be too late.

OTHER organizations which donated much time and effort were the 4-H Clubs which cleaned up litter from the hospital grounds; Girl Scouts Troop 117, which handed out waste baskets; the SOS Club for washing downtown door-glass areas, and the Junior Band.

In addition, city and county schools participated in locker and desk clean up day. City workers also labored to give city streets an extra thorough cleaning this week.

According to Hall, clean up week is over but the Chamber's job is still continuing: "Yet to do are several major cleanup projects and beautification projects."

One of them is painting the shed behind Berger Hospital, and cleaning out trash, debris, and weeds from the hospital's back fence now.

There is much natural beauty on the hospital grounds and with some attention and hard work, it can be an asset to the community," Jim Frommel recorded cleanup week activities on camera for the news media and for Chamber records. Community Appearance Committee members are: Chairman Bill Hall, Jack Goode, Joe Smith, Bob Hemphier, Joe Jenkins, George Byrd, Ray Carroll, Dick Gerhardt and Doyle Spangler.

There's sharp interest here, much of it centering on Mexico's endemic trade deficits with the United States.

The United States' fifth best customer in the world, Mexico purchased $1.23 billion of American goods last year while selling only $707 million.

Actually, over-all business between the two countries in 1968 nearly came out even. Mexico made $1.14 billion on tourism and border business while spending $627 million on the same categories. The next $500 million in profit nearly balanced out the $528-million trade deficit. Tourism and border trade figures seldom are cited in Mexican statistics relating to U.S. trade.

A similar extension was made in January 1968 when the North Koreans seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo. There was speculation the new extension was related to the downing of the Navy spy plane off the Korean coast April 15.

The United States maintains 55,000 men in Korea, most of them Army and Air Force personnel, to help the 550,000-man South Korean forces defend their country against North Korea. The normal duty tour for U.S. soldiers is 13 months.

Some Central Americans do their washing in modern automatic laundries but most do it in riverbeds or in the lakes at the bottom of extinct volcanoes.

Central Americans are slowly inching out of their backwardness, however. The main vehicle for this is the Central-American common market through which the countries are moving toward economic integration. The obstacles have

They would like to see U.S. investors "supplement but not dominate" local capital. Through mixed capital venture, Latin Americans hope to correct growing commercial payments imbalances by reducing remittances abroad of profits.

This is expected to be one of the key topics the Rockefeller mission hears. U.S. investments in Latin America are estimated to total $12 billion—and are increasing.

Grange

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE

National Music Week was given recognition at the May 6 meeting of Salt Creek Valley Grange. Hoyt Timmons substituted as presiding officer.

The charter was draped in memory of Judson Beougher, a member who served the Grange in many capacities.

Mrs. Fred DeLong, Home Economics Chairman, led a discussion concerning the manner of cooperation for beautification of the State Grange Home Office. Plans are to contribute proceeds from a June 14 bake sale. Mrs. DeLong stated that several of the "Grange Cook Books" were available for sale and reminded fellow members of the Blood Bank responsibilities on June 20th.

As Deputy Master, Paul Dunkle reviewed current findings about the county and announced the district talent contest at Pickerington Grange on June 25 and that each Grange was to have an Exhibit Booth at County Fair.

Mrs. Roy Fraumfelter, secretary, read communications from American Red Cross, expressing appreciation for time and effort given the past year, and the 4-H Department of Agriculture Extension for continued support to the youth.

A decision was made to continue support to the 4-H program and to contribute to the Salt Creek School Fund for purchase of dishes.

A greeting was sent Corilla Pontius who had just returned home from the hospital.

Using the theme "Music, Music, Music," Paul Dunkle, lecturer, presented a program. For roll call each responded with favorite music from the Grange Song Book.

To define music, Leora Sayre read "I Am Music."

Many musical interests and talents were recognized by the songs sung by a vocal ensemble from the Circleville City Boy's Choir: Tom Scherer, Mark Rustin, Mike Lawter, Billy Massey, Allen Dray, and Philip Roll.

"Moon River" was the piano solo by Joyce DeLong. "Orpheus with His Lute" and "Song of Liliac" were presented by Grace Anderson and Mrs. Radolph Wolfe. A "Happy Birthday" song was sung to Mrs. Anderson. Winners in the contest of "Musical Book" were Mark Rustin and Mrs. Wolfe.

During the concluding Social Fellowship, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Gail Heffner and Mrs. Wayne Luckhart.

Careless Smoking Blamed For Blaze

CINCINNATI (AP) — Investigators said careless smoking caused the $25,000 fire Friday at the John Foster Dulles Elementary School.

The fire was discovered before classes began.

Firemen and investigators from the Ohio Fire Marshal's office said examination of a damaged storage room showed that a smoldering cigarette touched off a storeroom of paper.

Play 'The Miser' Winds Up Repertory Company Season

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — A version of Moliere's "The Miser" festooned with burlesque tomfoolery winds up the Lincoln Center Repertory Company season at the Beaumont Theater.

Some risks involved in such an approach haven't been completely conquered in the production that opened Thursday night, but it averages out as a diverting and certainly smoothly staged entertainment.

Robert Symonds plays the title role with makeup and gestures that at moments suggest Bobby Clark, intact save for his cigar, is romping and roistering among us again. He hurls a quill pen with dashboard accuracy at a balcony, grabs his own hand around a banister during a hunt for lost cash and gleefully howls, "Aha, who's this?" And so on.

Director Carl Weber hasn't allowed only the leading player such sheer visual mischief. Young love dances barefoot atop the boots of her enamored, slapstick melees occur with recurrent zest.

To further the accenting of modern physical over classic dialogue, the music background breaks alternately from traditional harpsichord musings into rock guitar thumping, the deavings of William Bolcom.

The ensemble proceeds through the plot complexities of avarice, star-crossed romance and miraculous solution with respectable fortitude.

Preregistration Day Scheduled At Salt Creek

The preregistration day for Salt Creek School will be held on May 20, it was announced by Dave Draice, principal.

Parents and their prospective first graders for the 1969-70 school year are expected to meet in the art room at 9 a.m. on that date.

Mrs. Pickens, County Health Nurse, and Mrs. Lockard and Mrs. Notestone, first grade teachers, will be on hand.

Parents are asked to bring verification of birthdate and all available immunization records.

Parents are invited to remain at the school for lunch.

Negroes Protest In Middletown

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Some 135 Negroes, joined by a few whites, marched in the rain to City Hall Friday to protest what they called segregated housing.

The grievance was handed to chairman Dudley Inwood of the City Commission.

Negro businessmen closed for the day and 20 garbage collectors stayed off the job.

False Teeth Start Traumas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Getting false teeth is almost like death, or the beginning of the end, to many of the 20 million Americans who have them, says Dr. Nathan Friedman.

"To some it's a sign of age. Some women think of dentures as a loss of femininity. Men sometimes think of them as destroying virility."

But Friedman, a clinical professor of dentistry at the University of Southern California, said the fears are groundless.

"Dental science has reached the point now where with visits to the dentist people can keep their natural teeth all their lives," he told newsmen before he spoke at the 72nd annual scientific meeting of the Southern California Dental Association.

Monday Club Hears Lutheran Church Choir

Monday club met recently at the Lutheran Church for its final meeting of the year. The program presented by a guest music group, preceded the business meeting.

A proposed change in the constitution, regarding dates of meetings, was unanimously voted in the affirmative. Meetings are now the second and fourth Mondays of each consecutive month, beginning with the second Monday in September and ending with the second Monday in May.

Annual reports of the corresponding secretary, Miss Mary K. May, and of the president, Mrs. O. E. Barr, were read and accepted.

Mrs. Thomas Downing presented the Crusaders' Choir of the Lutheran Church in a concert of music conforming to the church year. The program began with song for Thanksgiving and continued with selections from Advent, Christmas, Epiphany, Lent, Palm Sunday, Easter and Pentecost.

Solo voices were Penny Connell, Roberta Wilkinson, Sheri Easter and Carla Rühl. Instrumentalists were Mrs. Danny Foutz, violin; Betsy Lovensheimer, cello; Suzanne Spalding, trumpet; Linda Hoffman, piano; Debbie Eberly, tambourine; Ruth Beck, finger cymbals.

Following the choral music, Miss Betsy Lovensheimer, cellist, performed the first and second of Paul Hindemith's "Three Pieces" accompanied by Mrs. Downing.

White Defends Court, Sees Law Changes
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislatures that do not agree with how courts interpret their laws can change them, Associate Justice Byron R. White of the U. S. Supreme Court said here Friday night.

White, addressing the 89th annual meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association, said legislatures frequently do change laws after court rulings which they feel misinterpret their meaning.

Monday Club Hears Lutheran Church Choir

Monday club met recently at the Lutheran Church for its final meeting of the year. The program presented by a guest music group, preceded the business meeting.

A proposed change in the constitution, regarding dates of meetings, was unanimously voted in the affirmative. Meetings are now the second and fourth Mondays of each consecutive month, beginning with the second Monday in September and ending with the second Monday in May.

Annual reports of the corresponding secretary, Miss Mary K. May, and of the president, Mrs. O. E. Barr, were read and accepted.

Mrs. Thomas Downing presented the Crusaders' Choir of the Lutheran Church in a concert of music conforming to the church year. The program began with song for Thanksgiving and continued with selections from Advent, Christmas, Epiphany, Lent, Palm Sunday, Easter and Pentecost.

Solo voices were Penny Connell, Roberta Wilkinson, Sheri Easter and Carla Rühl. Instrumentalists were Mrs. Danny Foutz, violin; Betsy Lovensheimer, cello; Suzanne Spalding, trumpet; Linda Hoffman, piano; Debbie Eberly, tambourine; Ruth Beck, finger cymbals.

Following the choral music, Miss Betsy Lovensheimer, cellist, performed the first and second of Paul Hindemith's "Three Pieces" accompanied by Mrs. Downing.

White Defends Court, Sees Law Changes
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislatures that do not agree with how courts interpret their laws can change them, Associate Justice Byron R. White of the U. S. Supreme Court said here Friday night.

White, addressing the 89th annual meeting of the Ohio State Bar Association, said legislatures frequently do change laws after court rulings which they feel misinterpret their meaning.

Kansas City Royals Defeat Orioles, 4-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
One of Baltimore's lost baby birds has come home to roost—and prey on the startled Orioles. Mike Fiore, a promising young slugger who migrated from Baltimore to Kansas City in the American League expansion draft, pinch hit a two-run ninth inning double as the scrappy Royals rallied for three runs and a 4-2 victory over the Orioles Friday night.

The loss, third for the Orioles in as many games against West Division clubs, trimmed their East Division lead to one game over the streaking Boston Red Sox, who whipped California 7-2. Fiore's double off reliever Dick Hall overcame a 2-1 Baltimore lead and pitcher Dick Drago squeezed home another run before finishing a fancy four-hitter for his second major league victory.

Mike Marshall fired a two-hitter as Seattle blanked Washington 2-0. Minnesota slugged Detroit 6-2 and Oakland edged the fumbling New York Yankees 3-2 in other AL action. The Chicago White Sox's game at Cleveland was rained out.

Drago, a 23-year-old right-hander drafted from the Detroit organization, held the Orioles hitless until the seventh, when Paul Blair and Frank Robinson drilled singles and Boog Powell doubled them home for a 2-1 edge.

Hall replaced starter Tom Phoebus after Joe Foy opened the ninth with a single. Foy raced to third on a single by

"Hall pitched to Fiore exactly as he was told," said Orioles Manager Earl Weaver. "Fiore played for me two years in Rochester, and he never went with the outside pitch."

The 24-year-old first baseman hit 19 homers for the Orioles'

Rochester farm club last season, but with Powell entrenched at first he became expendable in the draft.

He had a .250 batting average and one RBI—having hit the Royals' first homer on April 13—before delivering in the pinch against his ex-mates.

Lou Piniella, another of the six former Orioles on the Kansas City roster, collected three hits as the Royals came from behind for the 13th time in 15 winning games.

Dodgers, Kosco Rip Pirates, 13-3

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers' youth movement is in full swing—and so is Andy Kosco.

Not that Kosco can be considered old at 27, but he doesn't quite have the fuzzy cheeks of such youngsters as Bill Sudakis. 23: Ted Sizemore, 24: Billy Grabarkewitz, 23: Willie Crawford, 22, and Bill Russell, 20.

Still, Kosco managed to have the last laugh—and the first one, too—as the Dodgers bombed the Pittsburgh Pirates 13-3 Friday night.

After taking a good-natured needling with a cartoon in a local paper depicted him as one of the Dodgers' kids, the slugging outfielder went out and hammered his fifth and sixth homers, good for five runs batted in.

In the only National League daytime action, San Francisco walloped the Chicago Cubs 11-1. In other night contests, St. Louis outlasted San Diego 7-6 and Cincinnati whipped Montreal 8-5 with rain halting the game after 6½ innings. Atlanta at Philadelphia and Houston at the New York Mets were washed out.

Kosco, who came to the Dodgers from the Yankees in a wintertime trade, settled for a mere single his first time at bat, but it was the opening shot in a nine-run second inning. A wild pitch, a walk and Sudakis' double accounted for one run and Ron Fairly doubled for two more.

An error and a walk filled the bases and Sizemore cleared them with a triple. The seventh run scored on a wild pitch, followed by a walk and Kosco's first homer. Kosco then cracked a three-run round-tripper as the Dodgers tallied four times in the sixth.

"They kidded me about the cartoon," Kosco said grinning, "but I don't mind." He said Ken Boyer put a sign above his locker which said, "Who's kidding who?"

Roy McMillan Joins 'Greatest Reds Ever'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Roy McMillan, whom the late Roger Hornsby once described as the "best shortstop in the majors," became today a member of the "Greatest Reds Ever" team being assembled by panel of media experts.

The Texas-born infielder, now managing Visalia of the California League, won three Gold Glove awards as the outstanding shortstop in the National League.

McMillan was with the Reds 1951-60 and led the league twice in putouts, three times in assists and fielding percentage.

He also established a NL record for the most double plays in a season by a shortstop—129.

Cousy Glad To Be Back

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Cousy, new coach of the Cincinnati Royals, says he intended to stay out of basketball when he left the Boston College helm—"but I was going through some horrendous withdrawal symptoms."

The withdrawal was short, beginning with the end of the past season after a six-year stretch with Boston College. His teams produced a 117-34 record.

Surprise registered on the faces of some reporters when Cousy strolled into the Cincinnati Club Friday with Royals' owner Max Jacobs—who had said on several occasions there would be no changes within the year in the head coaching department.

Cousy said, "I can't tell you exactly when I changed my mind. I was kidding myself I could be out of it and be happy. I'm so damned competitive."

He said the Royals would sit on the bench less and would concentrate on a running game. Then he went into a huddle with players Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas.

"I feel that the way this game is played, you've got to capitalize constantly on a running game. We've got the best middle man in the game today in Oscar," said the man who was known as the quarterback of the Boston Celtics' fast break.

Cousy Glad To Be Back

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Cousy, new coach of the Cincinnati Royals, says he intended to stay out of basketball when he left the Boston College helm — "but I was going through some horrendous withdrawal symptoms."
The withdrawal was short, beginning with the end of the past season after a six-year stretch with Boston College. His teams produced a 117-34 record.
Surprise registered on the faces of some reporters when Cousy strolled into the Cincinnati Club Friday with Royals' owner Max Jacobs—who had said on several occasions there would be no changes within the year in the head coaching department.
Cousy said, "I can't tell you exactly when I changed my mind. I was kidding myself I could be out of it and be happy. I'm so damned competitive."
He said the Royals would sit on the bench less and would concentrate on a running game. Then he went into a huddle with players Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas.
"I feel that the way this game is played, you've got to capitalize constantly on a running game. We've got the best middle man in the game today in Oscar," said the man who was known as the quarterback of the Boston Celtics' fast break.

Kansas City Royals Defeat Orioles, 4-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
One of Baltimore's lost baby birds has come home to roost—and prey on the startled Orioles.
Mike Fiore, a promising young slugger who migrated from Baltimore to Kansas City in the American League expansion draft, pinch hit a two-run ninth inning double as the scrappy Royals rallied for three runs and a 4-2 victory over the Orioles Friday night.
The loss, third for the Orioles in as many games against West Division clubs, trimmed their East Division lead to one game over the streaking Boston Red Sox, who whipped California 7-2.

Fiore's double off reliever Dick Hall overcame a 2-1 Baltimore lead and pitcher Dick Drago squeezed home another run before finishing a fancy four-hitter for his second major league victory.
Mike Marshall fired a two-hitter as Seattle blanked Washington 2-0. Minnesota slugged Detroit 6-2 and Oakland edged the flumpling New York Yankees 3-2 in other AL action. The Chicago White Sox's game at Cleveland was rained out.

Drago, a 23-year-old right-hander drafted from the Detroit organization, held the Orioles hitless until the seventh, when Paul Blair and Frank Robinson drilled singles and Boog Powell doubled them home for a 2-1 edge.
Hall replaced starter Tom Phoebus after Joe Foy opened the ninth with a single. Foy raced to third on a single by

"Hall pitched to Fiore exactly as he was told," said Orioles Manager Earl Weaver. "Fiore played for me two years in Rochester, and he never went with the outside pitch."
The 24-year-old first baseman hit 19 homers for the Orioles' Rochester farm club last season, but with Powell entrenched at first he became expendable in the draft.
He had a .250 batting average and one RBI—having hit the Royals' first homer on April 13—before delivering in the pinch against his ex-mates.
Lou Piniella, another of the six former Orioles on the Kansas City roster, collected three hits as the Royals came from behind for the 13th time in 15 winning games.

All-County
Invitational
Set Monday

The Logan Elm High School All-County Invitational track meet will be held 6 p.m. Monday.
Circleville is favored to win the invitational, which includes the host school, Teays Valley and Westfall.
One of the best races at the meet could be the mile. All four schools have fine athletes in this event.
Larry Pusey of Logan Elm has logged the fastest mile of the season with a 4:40. But Bob Osterle of Westfall, Phil Pike of Circleville and Scott Barr of Teays Valley have all logged times well below five minutes.
TOP 880-yard runners include Bill McGowan, Circleville's record holder; Larry Pusey and Jim Schwabach of Logan Elm; Barr and Osterle.
Among the outstanding two-milers that will be competing are Mel Smith and Jim Lett. Smith is a four-year veteran for the Tiger track team in the event. Lett is from Westfall.
These distance races could be the best of the meet.
Circleville's Dick Walters and Will Bost should dominate the hurdles. Mike Henderson has probably the fastest times in the 100- and 200-yard dashes and Dave Hopkins in the 440. Both are Circleville boys.
The pole vault, with Jim Samuel and Paul Bost of Circleville, Dave Reichelderfer from Logan Elm and Ron Bell of Teays Valley could be a closely contested event.

Dodgers, Kosco Rip Pirates, 13-3

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Los Angeles Dodgers' youth movement is in full swing—and so is Andy Kosco.
Not that Kosco can be considered old at 27, but he doesn't quite have the fuzzy cheeks of such youngsters as Bill Sudakis. 23; Ted Sizemore, 24; Billy Grabarkewitz, 23; Willie Crawford, 22, and Bill Russell, 20.

a three-run round-tripper as the Dodgers tallied four times in the sixth.
They kidded me about the cartoon," Kosco said grinning, "but I don't mind." He said Ken Boyer put a sign above his locker which said, "Who's kidding who?"

Kosco said he was happy to get the two homers "because it was the first time I ever did it."
The crippled Giants, with Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Juan Marichal, Jim Ray Hart and Bobby Bonds all sidelined, resorted to what Manager Clyde King calls his "shock troops" to shock the Cubs.
Bob Burda socked a three-run homer, his first in the majors, and Ken Henderson drilled a bases-loaded single.
"The shock troops did a good job again," said King. "They did a good job the last time out against St. Louis when they got 12 hits. That's 28 hits in two games, which isn't bad for a bunch of fill-ins."

Bobby Tolan drove in four tallies with a two-run triple and two-run homer, his sixth, as the Reds drubbed the Expos. His triple broke a 2-2 tie in the second inning. Lee May also homered for Cincinnati and ex-Red Mack Jones blasted his 100th career homer for Montreal.
The Cardinals wiped out a 4-0 deficit with five runs in the sixth inning and Joe Hoerner put down a rally in the ninth to stave off the Padres. St. Louis forged ahead on five singles, an error—which made three of the sixth-inning runs unearned—and a passed ball and scored the deciding runs in the seventh on RBI singles by Mike Shannon and Ron Willis.
San Diego had a run in and runners on second and third with none out in the ninth. But Hoerner whiffed Ivan Murrell, got Roberto Pena on a sacrifice fly and fanned Tony Gonzalez to preserve the Cards' third triumph in 15 home games.

Roy McMillan Joins 'Greatest Reds Ever'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Roy McMillan, whom the late Roger Hornsby once described as the "best shortstop in the majors," became today a member of the "Greatest Reds Ever" team being assembled by panel of media experts.
The Texas-born infielder, now managing Visalia of the California League, won three Gold Glove awards as the outstanding shortstop in the National League.
McMillan was with the Reds 1951-60 and led the league twice in putouts, three times in assists and fielding percentage.
He also established a NL record for the most double plays in a season by a shortstop—129.

Aerosol Cans 'Death Spray' For 42 Youths, FDA Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-two youngsters looking for kicks in the common spray can have died after inhaling the mists from such products as mouthwashes and cleaning fluids, according to the Food and Drug Administration.

Victims were mostly teenagers, but one was only 11 years old, an FDA spokesman said.

"These kids apparently have been spraying products into plastic bags and then sniffing them," reported Joshua Zatz-man, the FDA's assistant commissioner for education and information.

"Then if they don't withdraw their heads fast enough, they die."

"It causes some dizziness and some elation with one breath, but if they take two or three breaths it freezes their esophagus, congests their lungs, causes asphyxia. It kills."

Director Of Racing At SD Is Boston University Grad

John Phillips, the director of racing at Scioto Downs graduated from Boston University where he majored in psychology, and the young veteran racing official will need all his experience this weekend.
Phillips has the monumental task of assigning stall space for the 1969 season at Scioto Downs that gets underway on May 23.
Scioto has 720 stalls, and the big job for Phillips comes when he starts wading through more than 1300 applications for those 720 stalls.

"Last year we had more than 1,200 applications, and we were able to pick the top stables with the best horses. The result was better racing that produced a 14 percent increase in wagering and an increase of more than 14,000 fans. The huge request for stalls this year puts us in the same position."

Phillips will move into Scioto
Downs after Green Mountain Park closes in Vermont, this week.

There are many guideposts to measure Phillips success at Scioto Downs. Beginning his fifth year as director of racing at Scioto, Phillips has seen the mutuel handle record broken many times during his tenure.
John is especially proud of the current record handle for a single night of $345,942 set last year.

Phillips has to satisfy not only the management of Scioto Downs, which demands top-flight racing at all times, but also the horsemen who put on the show. Dealing with the horsemen, Phillips frequently calls on his training in psychology.

Ready to assemble buildings that can span four tennis courts now are financially within reach of small sports promoters. The pre-fabricated steel structures with regulation courts of cork or rubber cost about $100,000. One such building here is 120 feet wide and 206 feet long. Fluorescent lights supply illumination and gas-fueled infrared heaters in the eaves supply even temperatures in the winter, reports the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Response To Bloodmobile Visit Called Successful

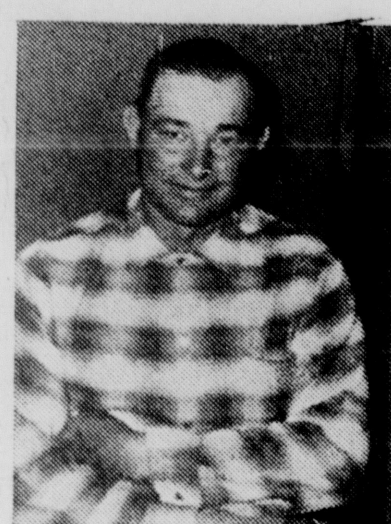

BENNIE HUFFER
2 GALLON DONOR

WILLIAM R. BETTS
2 GALLON DONOR

JAMES KRINN

ROBERT KNECHT
3 GALLON DONOR

The response of Pickaway County blood donors to the Friday visit of the Bloodmobile was excellent according to Red Cross officials. There were 154 persons registered and 131 units of blood were collected.

The county now stands at 94.4 per cent of quota for the year to date. This guarantees total coverage of blood needs for all county residents and their families.

Jack Mader, Blood Program chairman, expressed appreciation to all who helped make the visit successful.

Two persons became three gallon donors during the Friday visit. They were James Krinn and Robert Knecht. Two-gallon donors were Bennie Huffer and William R. Betts. Ten persons reached the one-gallon donor mark. They were Sidney Sanders, Eldon Ronning, Paul Eastman, Rev. John W. Dennis, Marilyn Hawks, Nellie Turner, Clarence Wardell, Don Repp, Jerry Davis, and David Garrett.

A Canteen at the Bloodmobile was sponsored by Mt. Pleasant Grange members Mrs. Pearl Counts, Mrs. Jesse Peart, Mrs. Austin Greene, Mrs. Eleanor Miller, Mrs. Amelia Wardell, Mrs. Clarabel Rose, Mrs. Anna Moss, Mrs. Eleanor Mowery and Mrs. Shirley Moore.

Red Cross Volunteers were Mrs. B. B. Defenbaugh, Mrs. Lewis Dean, Mrs. Herman Will,

Mrs. Keith Conrad, Miss Mary A. Howard, Mrs. Royce Woolever, Mrs. C. S. Dille, Mrs. Marvin Widmar, Mrs. Howard Huston, Mrs. Montford Kirkwood, Mrs. Ben Brian and Miss Katherine L. Mead.

Red Cross Volunteers were Sandra Smith, Cathy Hardman, Susie Spaulding and Brenda Stevenson.

Nurses on duty were Mrs. Robert Denman, Mrs. E. L. Hayne, Mrs. Michael Fields, Mrs. Don Archer, Mrs. Robert G. Smith, Mrs. Stanley Jones, Mrs. Ralph Schroer, Mrs. David Smith, Mrs. C. C. Schwarz and Mrs. Charles Walters.

Services were received from doctors Carlos Alvarez, F. W. Anderson, Ray Carroll, J. M. Hedges, V. D. Kerns, Emily Lutz and Robert McCoy.

Jack Mader, Louis Edsall, Robert Dahl, Jerry Starkey and Roloff Wolford assisted with unloading and reloading equipment. Ice was donated by Ed Ebert.

Five Ohio breeders of Charolais cattle are among consignors to the Second North American Charolais Sale to be held in conjunction with the North American Charolais Classic Show here May 25-28.

Ohio consignors include L.A. Demorest and Sons, Waldo G. and H. Research Farms, Circleville; Bob Evans Hidden Valley Ranch, Bidwell; Tom Zupan Big T Farms, Ashland, and Royce Bates, Warsaw.

The sale of 60 lots is expected to be one of the top offerings of Charolais cattle for the year. The auction will be held at the Cooper Arena at the Ohio Exposition Center at 4:30 p.m. May 27. Last year's sale brought an average of $3,100 per head.

Consignments have been received from Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Indiana, Montana, South Dakota, Illinois and Missouri, as well as Ohio.

The Classic Show and Sale is sponsored jointly by the Ohio State Charolais Association and the Ohio Department of Agriculture. Show premiums total $11,750.

Fire Department Douses Car Blaze

The Circleville Fire Department doused a burning automobile 7:27 p.m. Friday on Clark Drive.

The auto belonged to Norman Weethee, 201 Nicholas Drive. A 1967 model car, the blaze was believed caused by a short in the wiring.

Defend Lack Of Default In TFX Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says the decision to cancel F111B contracts with General Dynamics without declaring the company in default came after legal advice that a default order might not have held up in court.

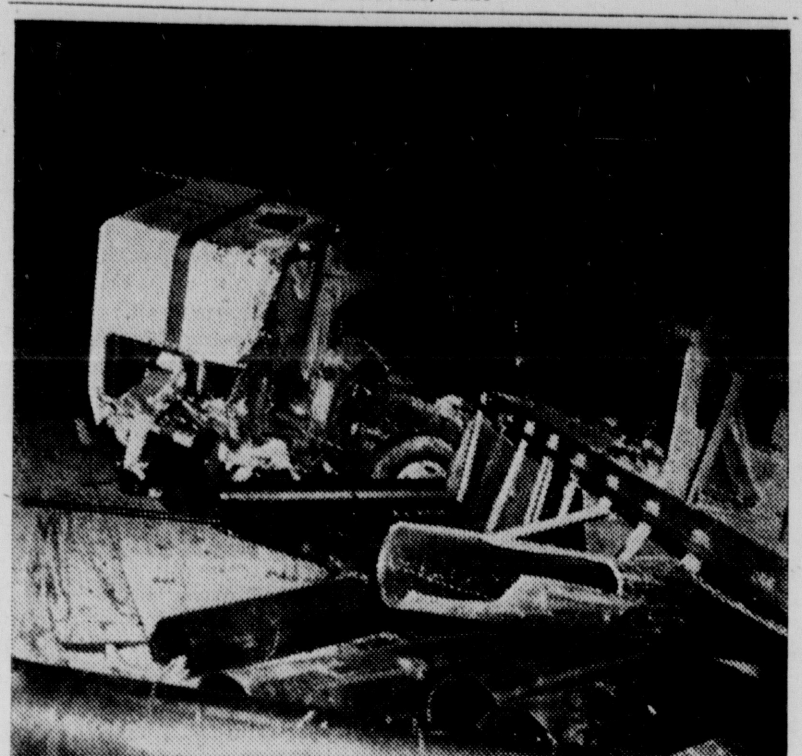

Gordon W. Rule, a Navy contract specialist, had criticized the arrangement in testimony before a congressional subcommittee Tuesday, saying that decision was wrong and cost the taxpayers many millions of dollars.

The Pentagon said Friday night the general counsels of the Defense Department, Air Force and Navy decided that terminating the contract for default "was a legally arguable alternative" but might not have held up in court.

The settlement required General Dynamics to repay the government $6.5 million and the company was disallowed a $16.5-million profit in connection with research work on the proposed carrier-based plane. The Navy scrubbed the F111B program because the aircraft was too big and too heavy to operate effectively from carriers.

The government said a default case might not have been supported because the government had gone along with work too long after deficiencies in the plane were noted, inferences the contract died because Congress cut off the money, and because General Dynamics had no chance to right the wrongs because the contract was canceled.

TRUCK ACCIDENT — Pickaway and Franklin County sheriff's deputies are dredging Darby Creek near Route 71 for the body of a man believed to have been thrown through his windshield when the truck he was driving struck the bridge railing about 4:30 a.m. Saturday. The truck, carrying steel pipe that was strewn over the highway, caught fire after the accident. Deputies have not been able to identify the truck or driver.

5 Freshman GOP Senators Feel No Pressure On ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five new Republican senators say they have felt no strong arm pressure despite their opposition to President Nixon's antimissile program.

The senators, considered most susceptible to the kind of leverage the White House can use in such cases, interpret the relatively mild administration pressure on them as a sign the President is still confident of Senate approval.

House passage of the $7.8 billion ABM proposal is considered certain, but in the Senate a close battle is being waged. A recent Associated Press survey shows 47 senators opposed to ABM, 43 in favor and 10 undecided.

The new GOP senators, in addition to opposing a Republican President's major proposal, are going against congressional custom that rookies are seen but not heard.

One of the five is Charles E. Goodell of New York, an appointee who may need strong party support in a tough election campaign next year.

"No one has come to me and raised irrelevant issues," Goodell said of the ABM controversy. "I suppose I would call it pressure if someone brought up a dam in New York or a contract. But none of that has happened."

The other four Republicans, all freshmen, are Charles Mathias of Maryland, Marlow W. Cook of Kentucky, Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania and William B. Saxbe of Ohio.

The five don't go into detail about persuasion exerted on them so far but one incident emerged when the Pentagon said Defense Secretary Melvin

Three Injured In 1-Car Mishap

A New Holland area girl received a fractured arm and two Washington C. H. teenagers were injured in a one car accident Friday evening.

Taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C. H. were passengers Dianne Eggleton, 17, Route 1, New Holland, suffering from a fractured left arm; Steve Hughey, 17, Washington C. H., head injuries and possible fractured left arm; and Jack Oyer, 16, rib injuries.

Driver of the car Judy Leet, 18, Route 1, New Holland, was not injured.

Miss Leet told Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz that she was southbound on Crownover Road near the intersection of Williamsport-Crownover Mill Road about 9 p.m. when she lost control of her car in loose gravel.

She stated that the car went out of control as she was rounding a curve in the road.

The car turned around sideways and went off the right side of the road, struck a ditch and a concrete drain.

No citations were issued by the sheriff's department.

The response of Pickaway County blood donors to the Friday visit of the Bloodmobile was excellent according to Red Cross officials. There were 154 persons registered and 131 units of blood were collected.

The county now stands at 94.4 per cent of quota for the year to date. This guarantees total coverage of blood needs for all county residents and their families.

Jack Mader, Blood Program chairman, expressed appreciation to all who helped make the visit successful.

Two persons became three gallon donors during the Friday visit. They were James Krinn and Robert Knecht. Two-gallon donors were Bennie Huffer and William R. Betts. Ten persons reached the one-gallon donor mark. They were Sidney Sanders, Eldon Ronning, Paul Eastman, Rev. John W. Dennis, Marilyn Hawks, Nellie Turner, Clarence Wardell, Don Repp, Jerry Davis, and David Garrett.

A Canteen at the Bloodmobile was sponsored by Mt. Pleasant Grange members Mrs. Pearl Counts, Mrs. Jesse Peart, Mrs. Audin Greene, Mrs. Eleanor Miller, Mrs. Amelia Wardell, Mrs. Clarabel Rose, Mrs. Anna Moss, Mrs. Eleanor Mowery and Mrs. Shirley Moore.

Red Cross Volunteers were Mrs. B. B. Defenbaugh, Mrs. Lewis Dean, Mrs. Herman Will.

Mrs. Keith Conrad, Miss Mary A. Howard, Mrs. Royce Woolever, Mrs. C. S. Dille, Mrs. Marvin Widmar, Mrs. Howard Huston, Mrs. Montford Kirkwood, Mrs. Ben Brian and Miss Katherine L. Mead.
